Message from the Chief Justice of the High Court of Shan State

The High Court of Shan State publishes the Annual Court Report with the aim of making judicial reform processes known not only to those related to the judiciary, those interested in the judiciary, but also to the public. The 2025 Court Annual Report could be successfully published as part of the Year III Action Plan (2025) under the Judicial Strategic Plan (2023-2027), which has been implemented with the motto “Providing Justice by All”.

There is a time-honored legal maxim that “It is not enough that justice is to be done, it must also be seen to have done”. To date, the public has a right to know not only the judgment of the Court but also its performance. It is also pointing towards the judicial accountability in some way. Only when the public is understandable the mechanism, activities, progress and necessities, will they have clear consciousness upon the Judiciary. Then the public trust and confidence will be gained.

In the High Court of the Shan State, four judges including the Chief Justice, have been completing expeditiously the original civil and criminal cases and appeals/ revisions attended against the judgments, decrees, orders passed by subordinate courts.

Since the Case Management Program has been implemented to reduce the delayed cases and to build public trust and confidence in the judiciary, the backlog of criminal and civil cases, including criminal cases tried by Special Benches, has been reduced noticeably, and this has been a milestone achievement of the courts at different levels in Shan State.

The court-led mediation system has been implemented in the High Court of Shan State since August 1, 2022. The High Court of Shan State, Mediation Department has been resolving disputes between parties on the basis of cases transferred by the courts at all levels. In 2025, 190 civil cases were transferred and 24 cases were resolved, increasing the success rate to 32.43%. Therefore, the ability to resolve the specified types of disputes effectively and rapidly in a short time is also a milestone of success.

The training programs provided by the High Court of the Shan State to enhance the capacity of judicial officers, judges, and staff of the High Court of the Shan State and courts at all levels, are described in the Annual Report.

In addition, the announcements regarding judicial business including the cause lists for hearings, the lists of the cases for which judgements will be delivered, judicial offices activities and bench-sitting are uploaded and regularly updated on the High Court of the Shan State's website for the public.

Uprightness of the Judiciary cannot be achieved by goodness of a single person or institution. We firmly believe that this task can only be done through the efforts of all. Hopefully, observing this report will help readers understand to some extent upon the endeavor of the Myanmar Judiciary stepping towards the providing justice by all.

Therefore, I would like to urge all judges and court staffs from the High Court and courts at all levels in the state to reflect on their weaknesses and strengths, and to work diligently with all their abilities to ensure justice for the public.

PART I

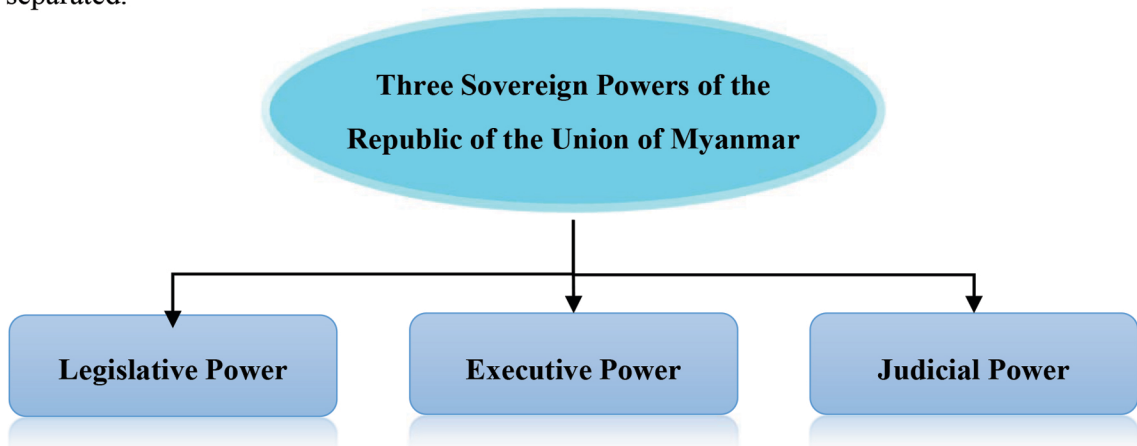

Overview of the Court System and Administration

Part I

Overview of the Court System and Administration

1.1 Three Sovereign Powers of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar

According to the Section 4 of the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar (2008), the Sovereign power of the Union is derived from the citizens and is in force in the entire country. Under the Section 11(A) of the Constitution, the three branches of sovereign power namely, legislative power, executive power and judicial power are separated.

1.2 Judicial Principles

Section 19 of the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar (2008), lays down the fundamental principles of the judiciary as follows: –

- (a) to administer justice independently according to law;
- (b) to dispense justice in open court unless otherwise prohibited by law;
- (c) to guarantee in all cases the right of defense and the right of appeal under law;

The Union Judiciary Law 2010, also stipulates judicial principles in Chapter (2), Section 3, as follows:

- (a) to administer justice independently according to law;
- (b) to dispense justice in open court unless otherwise prohibited by law;
- (c) to obtain the right of defense and the right of appeal in cases according to law;
- (d) to support in building of rule of law and regional peace and tranquility by protecting and safeguarding the interests of the people;
- (e) to educate the people to understand and abide by the law and nurture the habit of abiding by the law by the people;

- (f) to cause to compound and complete the cases within the framework of law for the settlement of cases among the public;
- (g) to aim at reforming moral character in meting out punishment to offender.

1.3 Judicial Power by the Constitution

In Myanmar, the Judiciary is one of the three branches of sovereign power and it is separated from the Legislative and Executive powers. Under Article 18 of the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar, the judicial power of the Union is shared among the Supreme Court of the Union, High Courts and courts at different levels.

1.4 Formation of Courts

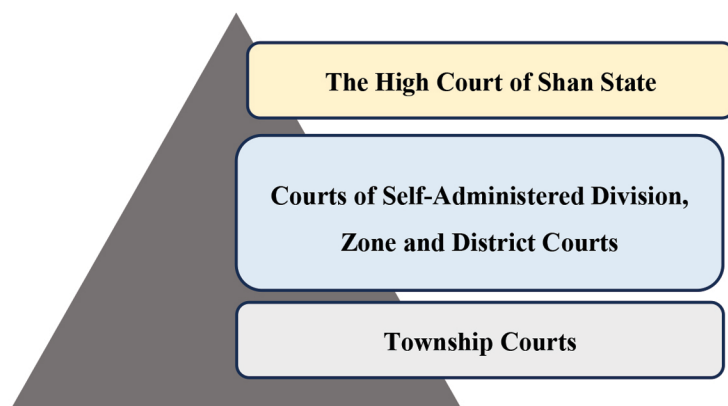

Since 30-3-2011, the following courts are formed under the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar (2008) and the Union Judiciary Law 2010:

- The Supreme Court of the Union,
- The High Courts of the Regions and States,
- District courts, Courts of Self-Administered Division and Zone,
- Township Courts,
- Other Courts constituted by Law.

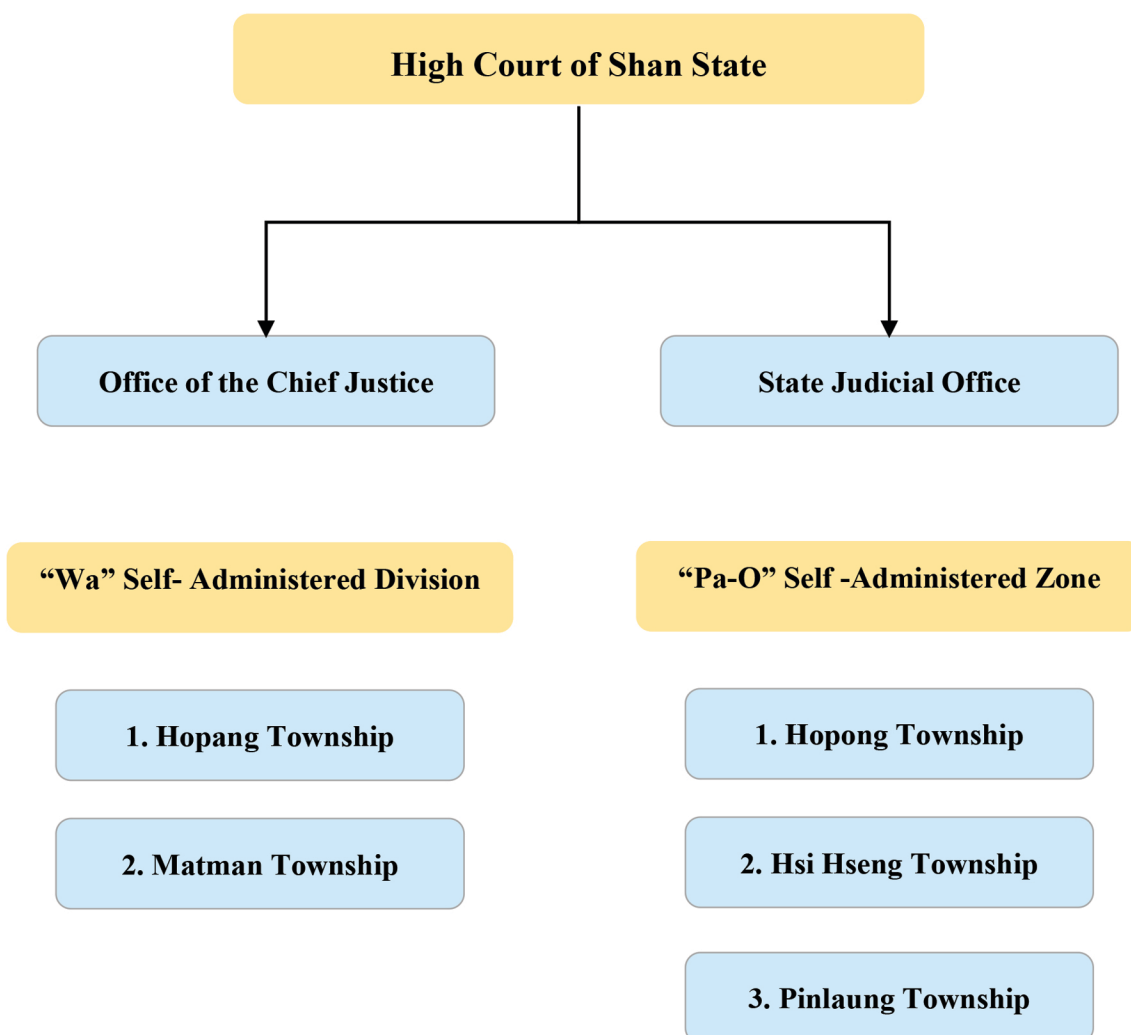

1.5 Formation of the High Court of the State

Before the enactment of the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar (2008) and the Union Judiciary Law, Shan State had the following courts: Shan State (Southern) Court, Taunggyi Town; Shan State (Northern) Court, Lashio Town; and Shan State (Eastern) Court, Kengtong Town. When the High Court of Shan State was established in accordance with the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar, the previous northern and eastern state courts ceased to exist. Since 31.3.2011, the High Court of the Shan State has been headquartered in Taunggyi Township and has been carrying out judicial and court management activities for the whole of the Shan State.

According to Section 306 of the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar , High Courts shall have powers to adjudicate on original case, appeal case, revision case for both criminal and civil matters, and power to adjudicate on matters prescribed by any law.

The High Courts have the criminal original jurisdiction prescribed by any law and also the civil original jurisdiction for the suits from the , valuation of above 5000 Million Kyats to the unlimited amount.

All cases in the High Court are adjudicated by the single judge or by a bench consisting of more than one judge when necessary . The High Court have the responsibility to supervise the judicial matters of all subordinate courts within its jurisdiction of the State in accordance with the guidance of the Supreme Court of the Union.

1.6.2 Courts of the Self-Administered Division/ Zone and District Courts

Self-Administered Region Court, Self-Administered Zone Courts and District Courts operate under the supervision of the Union Supreme Court and the High Court of the Shan State.

According to the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar, the self-administered division/zone courts, district courts, and township courts are organized under the High Court of Shan State.

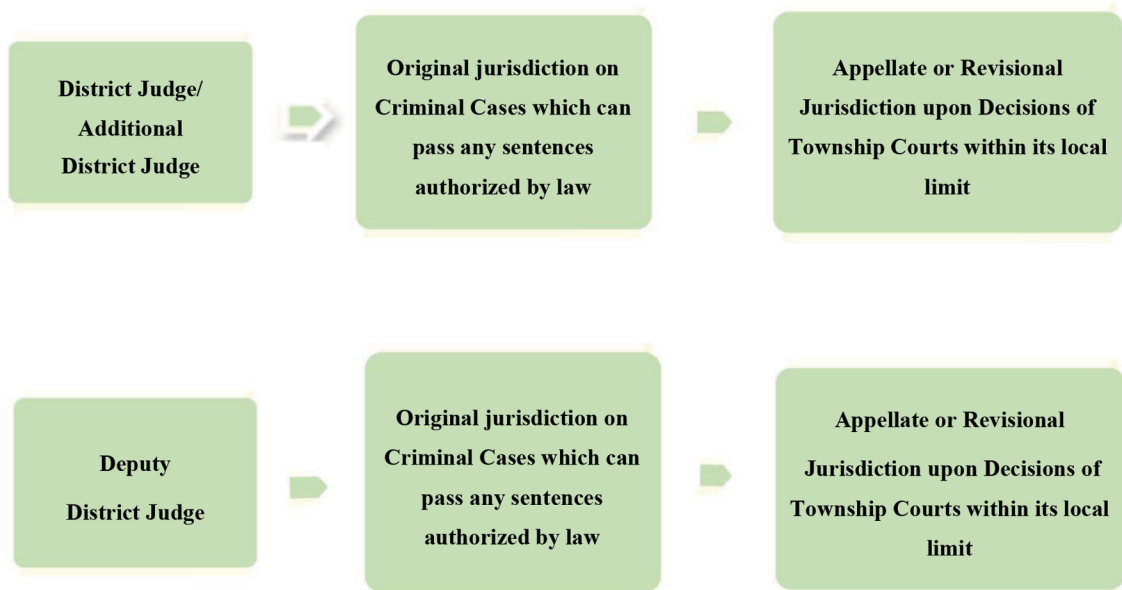

Each District Court has District Judge, Additional District Judge and Deputy District Judge who are assigned by the Supreme Court of the Union. Each Court of Self-Administered Division and Zone has Judge of Self-Administered Division and Zone and Deputy of Self-Administered Division and Zone.

The District Court has the original jurisdiction to hear both civil and criminal cases and has appellate and revisional jurisdiction over the judgments, decrees and orders passed by the subordinate courts. All cases in the District Court are adjudicated by a single judge and by a bench consisting of more than one judge when necessary.

The District Courts and Courts of Self-Administered Division and Zone are responsible to supervise the judicial matters of all Township Courts within its relevant jurisdiction in accordance with the guidance of the Supreme Court of the Union and the respective High Courts. There are (22) judges at the district level including District Judge on 31-12-2025.

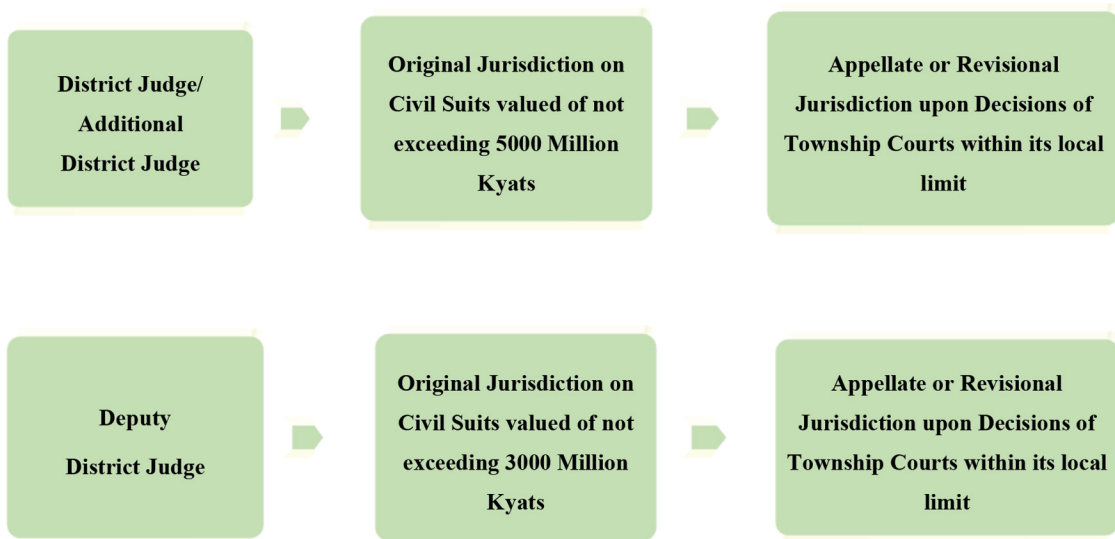

1.6.2.1 Criminal Powers of the Judges of the District Courts

Judges of Courts of Self-Administered Division and Zone, Deputy Judges of Self-Administered Division and Zone, District Judges, Additional District Judges and Deputy District Judges have original jurisdiction on criminal cases which can pass any sentences authorized by law, and appellate or revisional jurisdiction upon decisions of Township Courts within its local limit.

Judges of Courts of Self-Administered Division and Zone, District Judges and the Additional District Judges have original Jurisdiction on civil suits valued of not exceeding 5000 Million Kyats, appellate or revisional jurisdiction upon decisions of Township Courts within its local limit. Deputy Judges of Self-Administered Division and Zone, Deputy District Judges have original Jurisdiction on civil suits valued of not exceeding 3000 Million Kyats, appellate or revisional jurisdiction upon decisions of Township Courts within its local limit.

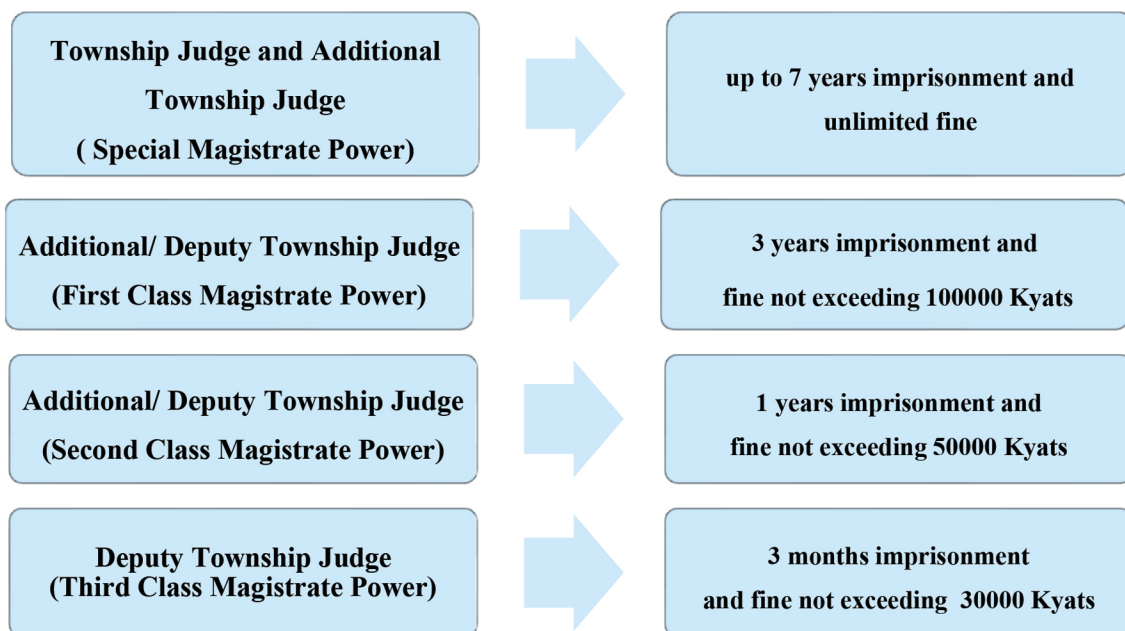

1.6.3 Township Courts

The Township court is the court of first instance and has already been established in 50 townships based on the statistics as of 31-12-2025. Each Township Court has Township Judge, Additional Township Judge and Deputy Township Judge who are assigned by the Supreme Court of the Union. The Township Courts have only the original jurisdiction to hear both civil and criminal cases. All cases in the Township Court are adjudicated by a single judge. There are 50 judges, including the Township Judges, on 31-12-2025.

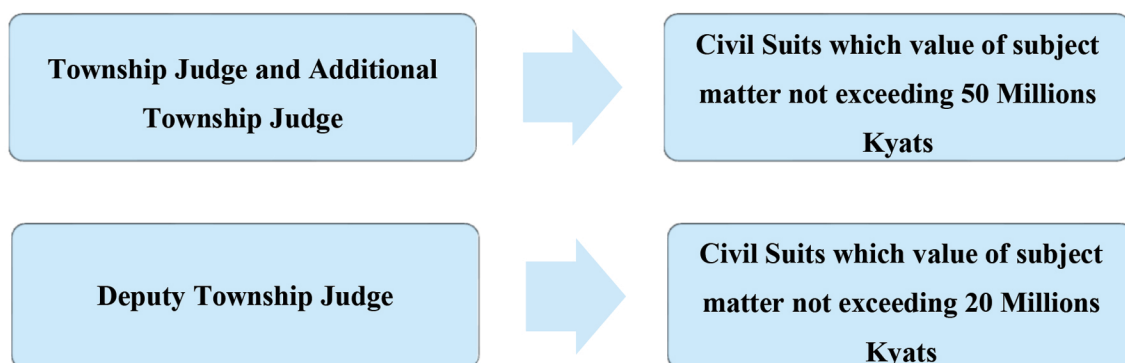

1.6.3.1 Criminal Powers of the Judges of the Township Court

Township Judge and Additional Township Judge who have Special Magisterial Power have been conferred criminal jurisdiction which may pass sentence up to 7 years imprisonment and unlimited fine, Additional Township Judge and Deputy Township Judge who have First Class Magisterial Power, the criminal jurisdiction which may pass sentence not exceeding 3 years imprisonment and fine not exceeding 100000/- kyats, Additional Township Judge and Deputy Township Judge who have Second Class Magisterial Power, the criminal jurisdiction which may extend to 1 year imprisonment and fine not exceeding 50000/- Kyats, Deputy Township Judge who have Third Class Magisterial Power, the criminal jurisdiction which may extend to 3 months imprisonment and fine not exceeding 30000/- Kyats.

1.6.3.2 Civil Powers of the Judges of the Township Courts

Township Judges and Additional Township Judges have been conferred original jurisdiction on civil suits or proceedings which the value of subject matter is not exceeding 50 Millions Kyats, and Deputy Township Judge have been conferred original jurisdiction on civil suits or proceedings which the value of subject matter is not exceeding 20 Millions Kyats.

1.6.4 Other Courts Constituted by Specific Law

Other courts are constituted by law in order to try particular matters which are generally equivalent to the status of Township Court. However, the jurisdiction to try original intellectual property disputes is vested in district courts. Other courts established by law include:

- (1) Juvenile Courts;
- (2) Courts to try Municipal Offences;
- (3) Courts to try Traffic Offences;
- (4) Intellectual Property Courts

1.6.4.1 Juvenile Courts

The authority to adjudicate offences committed by children is being conferred to the Township Judges of the relevant Township Courts because the State does not have special juvenile courts set up to do so under the Child Rights Law .

1.6.4.2 Intellectual Property Courts

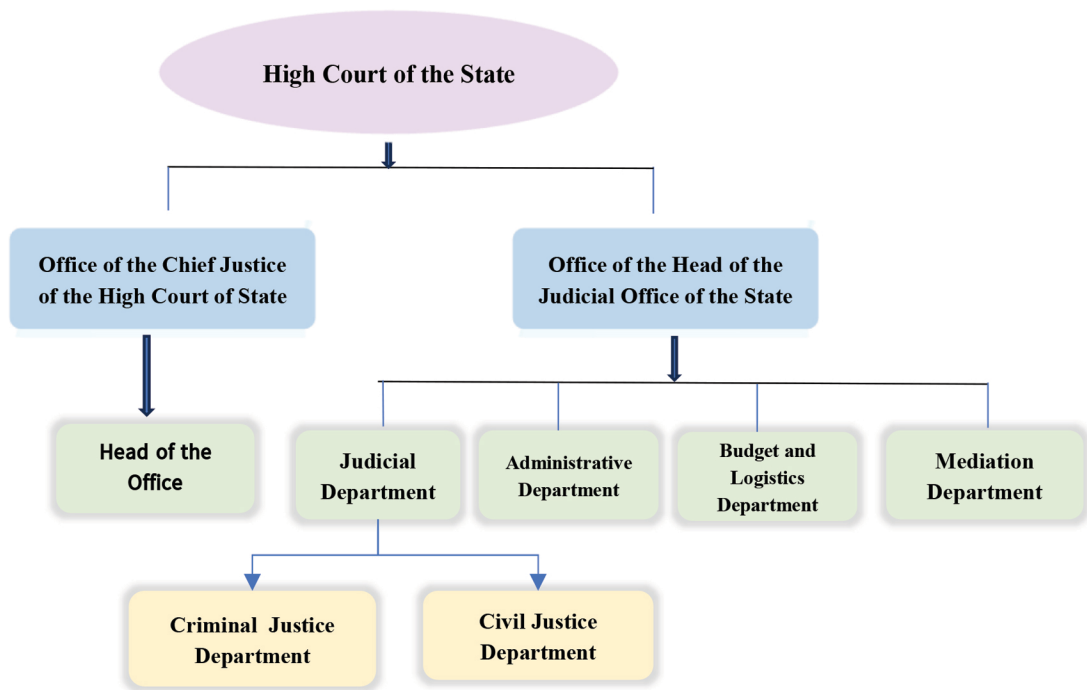

Although no Intellectual Property Courts have been established in Shan State to specifically handle disputes concerning intellectual property rights, jurisdiction over criminal-related to intellectual property disputes has been vested to District Courts by the Supreme Court of the Union. Furthermore, appeals, revisions, and judicial reviews of rulings, orders, and decisions issued by Intellectual Property Courts fall within the appellate jurisdiction of the relevant High Court of the State or Region.

1.7 Court Administration

The State High Court has set up Administrative Committees for Court Administration, and Departments in order to administer the departmental affairs, supervise the subordinate courts and manage the financial matters.

1.7.1 Administration and supervisory functions of the High Court of the State

Significant Performances of the High Court of the State in 2025

Significant Performances of the High Court of the State in 2025

2.1 Formation of the State/Township Legal Aid Board

In order to implement an effective legal aid system in accordance with the Strategic Objective 1.1 of the Supreme Court of the Union, the High Court of the State formed the Legal Aid Boards in State Office, Taunggyi, Yatsauk, Kalaw, Nyaungshwe, Pekon, Hopong, Hsi Hseng, Pinlaung, Pindaya, Ywangan, Loilem, Nansan, Moh Nai, Lashio, Mu Se, Namkham, Kutkai, Kyaukme, Hsipaw, Naungcho, Moemaik, Mabein, Kengtong, Tachileik, Mong Hsat and Mong Ton.

Due to the current regional security situation, the township offices of Pekon, Hsi Hseng, , Lashio, Kyaukme, Hsipaw, Naungcho, Moe Meik, Mabein, Namkham, and Kutkai are unable to open. The chairmen and members of the Lashio, Pekon, and Hsi Hseng, township offices are working together at the Shan State Legal Aid Office.

2.2 Trial by Special Benches

After declaring the State of Emergency, in order to be convenient and undelay disposal of criminal pending cases that consist of the accused in custody who are difficult to be brought before the court, the Supreme Court of the Union assigned some Special Benches to try the cases.

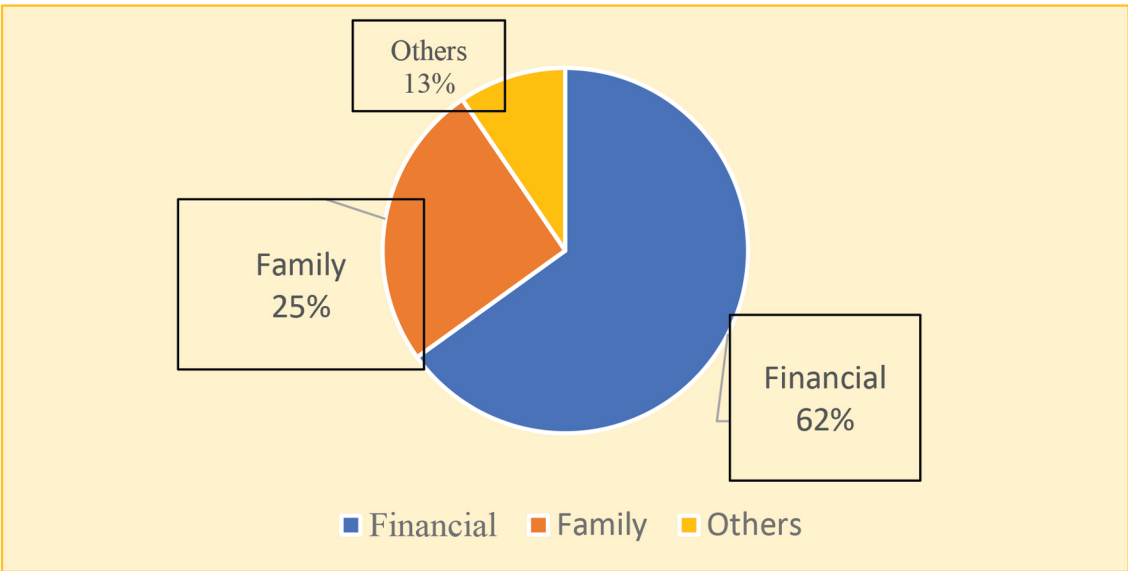

Special benches from courts in Shan State have been granted jurisdiction to conduct trials near Naung Shwe Prison, Lashio Prison, and Kengtong Prison. These special benches hear cases filed under Section 505(a) of the Penal Code, the Counter-Terrorism Law, and cases where it is difficult to produce the accused in court. As of December 31, 2025, there were no pending cases from the special sittings of the High Court and the District Courts within Shan State. For the Township Courts, there were 2 pending cases, 15 cases newly filed, and 15 cases decided, resulting in 2 pending cases. This is presented in Appendix (B).

2.3 Implementing Court-led Mediation System

2.3.1 Performances related to Mediation

The Supreme Court of the Union is implementing the Judicial Strategic Plan (2023-2027). Under this Strategic Plan, the court-led mediation system for civil cases has been implemented in courts nationwide starting from August 1, 2022.

From January 1, 2025, to December 31, 2025, a total of 190 cases were referred to the Mediation Department of the High Court of the State during the one-year period. Together with 5 cases pending from the previous year, there were 195 cases in total. Among them, 74 cases were settled through mediation, 117 cases were returned without being able to mediate, and 4 cases remained pending. The 190 referred cases were concluded, with 24 successfully mediated cases, achieving a success rate of 32.43%. These comprised 15 financial disputes, 6 family cases, and 3 other cases.

3.5 Trial Date Certainty

Trial date certainty targets to ensure the efficiency of court scheduling practices such as case postponement rate, the number of hearings scheduled per case and adjudicating cases within the standard timeframe.

Case postponement Rate: Case Postponement Rate is the ratio of the number of postponements to that of adjournments of cases. The improvement of court performance is targeted by reducing the rates of adjournments and postponements of cases in courts.

The performance targets of the case postponement rate of the Courts in 2025 are as follows:

- To reduce the postponement rate of criminal cases up to 20%,
- To reduce the postponement rate of civil cases up to 20%.

Average Number of Hearings: It is the number of adjournments for hearing from the commencement to the final disposal of the case.

The target for the average number of hearings of Courts in 2025 is as follows:

- To reduce up to 8 hearings in criminal cases;
- To reduce up to 14 hearing in civil cases.

Adjudicating the cases within Timeframe: The timeframe under National Case Management Program Procedures is designated to adjudicate the simple criminal cases within 180 days and the civil cases within 365 days in order to dispose of the cases speedily and in a timely manner. The target is to finish at least 90% out of all cases within NCMP's timeframe.

The postponement rate, average number of hearings, percentage of cases adjudicating within NCMP's timeframe are shown in Appendix (E) for District Courts and Township Courts in 2025.

3.6 Appeal Rate

Appeal rate is the expression to measure the satisfaction of clients upon the decision of the courts within a calendar year.

3.6.1 Appeal rate from Township Courts to District Courts

The calculation of the appeal rate is the ratio of the number of appellate cases in District Courts to the number of decided cases in Township Courts within a calendar year. The revisions and miscellaneous appeals were excluded from the number of appellate cases.

In 2025, the total appeal rate from Township Courts to District Courts was 1% in criminal cases and 4% in civil cases.
